IX. HEALTH INSURANCE

Massachusetts state law requires that everyone has health insurance and provides various options for residents. Take a look at the following website for more information.

www.mahealthconnector.org/portal/site/connector

Commonwealth Care is an insurance program for uninsured individuals with incomes that fall within certain guidelines and who meet other qualifications. With Commonwealth Care, you choose a health plan and you choose your own doctor. The benefits of Commonwealth Care include regular check-ups, treatment when you are sick or injured, prescriptions at your local pharmacy, vision care, mental health or substance abuse treatment, and, for some members, dental care.

MassHealth is a public health insurance program for eligible low and medium-income residents of Massachusetts. MassHealth is the name used in Massachusetts for Medicaid and the State Children's Health Insurance Plan (SCHIP), combined in one program. There are some basic rules for getting MassHealth. Even if you or your family already has health insurance, you may be eligible if your family's income is low or medium and:

- o You are a parent living with your children under age 19;
- o You are an adult caretaker living with children under age 19 to whom you are related by blood, adoption, or marriage, or are a spouse or former spouse of one of those relatives, and you are the primary caretaker of these children when neither parent is living in the home;
- o You are under age 19, whether or not you live with your family;
- o You are pregnant, with or without children;
- o You have been out of work for a long time;
- o You are disabled; or
- o You are HIV-positive.

XI PARTIAL HOSPITALIZATION PROGRAMS

Partial hospitalization programs are day treatment centers running typically from 9-3pm where clients are deemed in need of treatment throughout the day in order to maintain stability and safety, but are not deemed in need of overnight, inpatient hospitalization.

Typically, you will need to call your insurance company to ask them which hospitals have partial programs that your carrier will cover services within. You can also ask your therapist for help with this process.*

Intervention Coordinator Andrea Razi, LICSW, provides a range of supports to students affected by substance use. Identified students participate in a one-hour evaluation with Ms. Vigil after which the information gathered is used to determine the relative risk that this student may develop or continue to display a substance abuse problem. After this assessment students may be identified as needing in-school group or individual support and/or out of school support from a range of community resources.

The purpose of this information sheet is to inform parents and persons working with the individual student of the meaning of some of the recommendations that may come from the evaluation. Based on the information a student reports, each young person will be deemed within a certain risk level.

CATEGORY MEANING:

Low Risk: Students in this category may report having tried alcohol and/or marijuana, but deny regular use. Substance use appears to be experimental and occasional (1x or less a week). No use of more dangerous street drugs.

Moderate Risk: Students in this category typically report use of alcohol and/or marijuana weekly and often more than one time per week. A student may also be found to be at moderate risk if there are significant genetic factors that may predispose them to have substance use issues, and or co-occurring mental health issues. Substance use has negatively impacted the youth's functioning in school, at home, or in the community.

High Risk: Students in this category typically engage in frequent substance use and show additional problematic indicators like frequent lying, sneaky behavior, drop in grades, a change in peer groups and loss of interest in activities. Youth may be abusing "harder" drugs such as cocaine, prescription drugs, heroin, etc. These teens likely have had some consequences of serious and continued use such as: school suspension, legal involvement, medical attention, etc.

Severe Risk: Students in this category are typically using drug and/or alcohol multiple times daily, and have had difficulty trying to cut back on their own. Often they have experienced school failure, a change in their behavior and are very high risk for physical harm. Probably physically or psychologically addicted to at least one substance.

WHAT RESEARCH TELLS US:

Research shows that teens participating in structured activities between the hours of 3-6pm are less likely to abuse substances. Most teens abuse substances between the hours of 2-6pm and on weekends. Participation in structured activities is strongly recommended (i.e. sports, clubs, employment, community service, family activities, etc).

Literature and research also shows that individuals who have Concerned Significant Others (CSOs) who participate in Al-Anon or Alateen are more likely to decrease their use and/or seek treatment themselves. It is recommended that you and your family attend Al-Anon or Alateen, which is an anonymous support program for persons with family members who have substance use issues. www.ma-al-anon-alateen.org (Al-Anon Family Groups of Massachusetts Inc (508-366-0556) 57 East Main St, Ste 109, Westborough, 01581-1457, afgofma@aol.com)
