Arlington Public Schools Names World Language Director

The Superintendent of Arlington Public Schools, Kathleen Bodie, has announced that Dawn Carney will be the World Language Director beginning in the 2017-18 school year. Ms. Carney comes to the district from the Brookline Public Schools where she has worked since 2008 as the Curriculum Coordinator for World Languages in grades K-8. Ms. Carney will oversee the Arlington World Language curriculum and faculty, which is available in grades 6-12. The Arlington Public Schools currently offers courses in French, Spanish, Mandarin, Italian and Latin.

Prior to working in Brookline, Ms. Carney was a French teacher in the Lincoln Public Schools, and a French teacher in Wellesley Middle School. She has both a Master in Educational Leadership from Endicott College, and a Master of Arts with a focus on French from Middlebury College. Dr. Bodie spoke on behalf of the district when she stated, "Arlington is pleased to welcome an experienced World Language administrator to join us in our work to promote high quality global education."
